

GCG Game Plan

The screens, and why each one exists

GCG's team operating system. People onboard by playing a six-minute game that produces their player card. Each person gets a Home that answers three questions: what is GCG doing, where do I fit, and what do you need from me right now. Hinda plans events from templates, the system suggests the best person for each task and explains why, and every event reads as a journey: Plan, Prep, Check, Play, Report. Every contribution leaves a visible trail, recorded for fair credit later.

All screens use sample data with made-up names and a sample event. Shown at phone width.

01 Welcome

WHAT IT SHOWS

What the app is for, about 6 minutes, stop anytime, three short levels, and the reward: your player card.

WHY IT MATTERS

Sets expectations so a busy person starts relaxed. Progress is saved, so nobody loses work or feels guilty for stopping.

02 Warm-up

WHAT IT SHOWS

Pick the kinds of work you lose track of time doing.

WHY IT MATTERS

An easy first tap that gets people moving and gives an early signal about their interests.

Game Plan
GOLD COAST GAMES

 Level 1 of 3 · You

WARM-UP

What kind of work makes you lose track of time?

Pick as many as you like.

 Talking and working with people

 Making things: design, video, writing

 Solving technical problems and working with tools ☐

 Organising, planning and keeping things on track ☐

 Working with numbers, records and detail ☐

 Looking after people, places or things ☐

03 Situations

WHAT IT SHOWS

Seven real situations: tap the option most like you, then the one least like you.

WHY IT MATTERS

Choosing between good options is harder to fake than rating yourself, so the card is honest. Seven is the fewest that still measures every strength twice.

Game Plan
GOLD COAST GAMES

 Level 2 of 3 · Situations

04 Jobs that might suit you

WHAT IT SHOWS

Six GCG jobs matched to the answers so far. Yes, maybe or not for me.

WHY IT MATTERS

People say what they want and do not want, in concrete jobs rather than abstract traits. This drives task suggestions.

Game Plan
GOLD COAST GAMES

Level 3 of 3 · Jobs★★☆

JOB 1 OF 6

These jobs might suit you. Do they sound like you?

YOUR ANSWERS POINT TO:

Welcoming people

Persuading and negotiating

Fixing tech and problems

STRATEGYNEEDED SOON

Community strategy

Turns first-time guests into regulars: follow-up, invitations, staying in touch.

Good fit if: You remember people and enjoy building a relationship over time.

You that love

★ Level 2 cleared: Situations

Maybe

The player card

WHAT IT SHOWS

The reward: name, type (The Welcomer + Deal Maker) and three strengths, centred and screenshot-friendly. Then one question: does this sound like you?

WHY IT MATTERS

People feel seen, and the card powers task matching. One primary action: save the card and open your Game Plan.

06 Home (team member)

WHAT IT SHOWS

Greeting, how many things need you, and the dominant card: your next move, with why you, what it is needed for and one button. Below: what GCG is doing right now as a five-stage journey, and your part.

WHY IT MATTERS

Answers in seconds: what is GCG doing, where do I fit, what do you need from me. When nothing needs you, it says so and shows how the event is going.

WHAT IT SHOWS

Also: your place (type, strengths, tasks and events done, finish your profile) and the next whole-crew date with one calendar button.

WHY IT MATTERS

Everything a member needs without visiting another screen.

Only the events you are part of, each with its journey, how many of your tasks are open and what is next.
Up for grabs sits below.

My world, not GCG's whole world.

An event as a journey

WHAT IT SHOWS

Plan, Prep, Check, Play, Report. Done stages lock in green, the current stage is larger and marked NOW, with how ready the event is and the latest finished tasks.

WHY IT MATTERS

People understand a journey faster than a list, and see their contribution land.

WHAT IT SHOWS

Deadline first, then the task and event. One big Take it. Quieter: Can't do it, and Not really me (fewer tasks like this).

WHY IT MATTERS

Readable in two seconds. Saying no is easy and never hides the task: it goes straight back to the pool.

Can't do it

Not really me

A task you have taken

WHAT IT SHOWS

Deadline and your plan, what it is needed for, one big Done. Plan, calendar, stuck, extra hand and crew chat are tucked under More.

WHY IT MATTERS

The one thing to do is obvious; everything else is there without clutter.

WHAT IT SHOWS

Title, what you like and don't, and your GCG trail: every event you helped make happen and what you did. About me and CV strengths are folded away.

WHY IT MATTERS

Unpaid work is seen and remembered. This is the record for fair credit later.

12 Today (Hinda)

WHAT IT SHOWS

GCG today: active events, what needs attention, answers waiting, coverage gaps. Then Needs you: at most five items across all events, each with one action.

WHY IT MATTERS

The control room: where to intervene, not every metric at once.

WHAT IT SHOWS

Crew contributions, then folded sections: all tasks, add a task, guests and messages, debrief. More actions and event details sit behind one tap each.

WHY IT MATTERS

A long event plan without a long, overwhelming page.

WHAT IT SHOWS

Each wing of GCG as a tile with a dot per person: red for no one or only one person, gold for two, green for three or more. Tap for names and urgent jobs with no one.

WHY IT MATTERS

Shows single points of failure before you read a number. This is the recruiting list.

15 Titles

WHAT IT SHOWS

Bundle jobs into a title, describe it, and give it to people. Best fits are marked.

WHY IT MATTERS

Moves people from helping everywhere to clear positions. Title holders get first pick of tasks under their jobs.
